When NetEnt bought out Red Tiger in a deal worth hundreds of millions; it didn't take long for the iGaming world to envisage what mashups might pour forth from the amalgamation. NetEnt's illustrious back-catalogue combined with Red Tiger's Megaways license quickly sprang to mind.

High on the wish list for a lot of players was Piggy Riches Megaways, which turned out to be a highly playable game. Even dearer to many hearts is the second NetEnt classic to get the treatment – Gonzo's Quest. Well, it has happened, one of the most popular slots on the planet has been beefed up, redesigned, remade, revamped, blessed a second life, whatever you want to call it, thanks to Big Time Gaming's popular Megaways engine.

The first impressions are pretty much everything you would hope they would be. It's Gonzo, but a more modern, attractive looking version. Everything is crisper, sharper, more defined, not to mention bigger. Thanks to Megaways, players get 6 reels, with 2-7 symbols on each. Win ways vary on every spin from 64 all the way up to 117,649. Megaways slots typically use some sort of cascade mechanic, so Gonzo's inherent Avalanche feature suits it like a charm. Pour in some sweet jungle sounds, and the playful antics of Gonzo himself by the reels and you can't help but smile at the prospect of firing the game up.

Doing so requires selecting bets first. There isn't a huge range of options, but enough to cover most requirements from 10 p/c to  $$4$  per spin. What cause the next shiver of delight are the stats, starting with an RTP of 96% which is bang on average and actually higher than the original. Volatility is also suitably high and has been paired with potential in excess of 20,000 times the stake. When it comes to figures, Gonzo's could hardly be any better.

In a nice nod to the past, most symbols are the same as those in the original. Though there are a few changes. For one, they look nicer. Secondly, a new mask has been added to the top of the payable, which is worth 15 times the stake for six of a kind. This premium is followed by four more masks of lesser value, and four low pay animalistic looking icons. Two more special symbols round off the payable, which are covered below.
