Full of regret, Max wishes for his family back, only to be met with cruel laughter from the holiday horror. Krampus lifts the boy and tosses him into what appears to be Hell... only for Max to wake up in his bedroom on Christmas morning. Max goes downstairs and, to his shock, his family is all there, alive and happy.

However, while Max's sacrifice is redemptive, it's not really rewarded, and Krampus ultimately offers neither grace nor mercy in a Twilight Zone ending. Also, no higher being intervenes to forgive the family before or during that ending. This is, of course, contrary to the Gospel.
