The French club are making plans for next season, following yet another disappointing campaign at the continental level. The future of head coach Cristophe Galtier is in doubt and so too that of the iconic forward line.

New direction

The idea the Parisians are leaning towards at the moment is a change of direction, a new look, a distinct identity. Their 'Galactico' era hasn't brought success, so the time has come to freshen things up and try something new.

The plan is to build a new team of young French talent, led by Mbappe, who embodies the best of the domestic product. This change of course to invest in young and rising talent mirrors Real Madrid's change in policy in recent years.

The French club also want to grow a greater sense of identity and a connection between team and fans. A more sustainable financial approach, coupled with a greater French presence in the squad, could help.
