Castiel brought back Sam without his soul, and Dean implores the help of the Horseman Death in order to retrieve it.

Death puts a wall up in Sam's mind so that he will not remember Hell. Sam's original personality is restored with no memory of the past year and a half.

After getting his soul forcefully shoved back into him, the real Sam wasn't really there either.

He was a guy with this wall in his head, keeping back the trauma, the pain that defines who he is.
