Zombie movies highlight the fears of our time.

Reanimated corpses are innately pretty terrifying, but they are also pretty political. Since the genre was created, zombie stories have reflected the unique social fears of that moment in history.

We are used to seeing and processing human faces and objects, but seeing an eerie, near-human image such as a zombie triggers fear.

The face we see technically has all the features that should make it recognizable to us as a human

but instead we are faced with something feral, lacking humanity.
