Go is a strategic board game for two players. It is known as Weiqi in Chinese, Igo in Japanese and Baduk in Korea. It is played on a board, called a goban, consisting of a grid of intersections, called "hoshi" or "stars". Black stones are placed on the intersections, and White stones are placed on the intersections. The goal is to capture the opponent's stones and to surround them. The game is a perfect information game, meaning that both players know all the information about the game at any given time. It is a game of strategy and skill, and it is one of the most popular board games in the world. It is played by millions of people around the world, and it is considered one of the most intellectually demanding games. It is a game that has been played for thousands of years, and it is still one of the most popular board games in the world today.
