The term "handicap 2.5" is widely used in football and other sports. It means a bet where the underdog team is given a 2.5 goal advantage. For example, if you bet on the favorite with a -2.5 handicap, they must win by 3 goals or more for your bet to win. If the match is a draw or the favorite wins by only 1 or 2 goals, your bet loses.

On the other hand, if you bet on the underdog with a +2.5 handicap, they can lose the match or draw, and your bet will still win. If the favorite wins by only 1 or 2 goals, your bet also wins.

In summary, a 2.5 goal handicap is used to level the odds in unequal matches, making betting more interesting for both sides of the market.
